

Community Arts Action: Social Change Through Movement Arts

Giving Voice to Survivors of Domestic Violence

The Center for Community Arts, along with the Department of Theatre & Dance and the School of Social Work at Texas State University-San Marcos, are pleased to announce that we have secured funding to continue the Movement Arts project. Gina Gibney is returning to present her Community Action Residency training on the use of movement and creativity to empower survivors of domestic violence. Gina is the artistic director of the critically acclaimed, New York based, Gibney Dance Company, which has a ten-year track record of serving survivors of domestic violence, as well individuals affected by HIV/AIDS and youth-at-risk. Gina will bring members of her dance company, along with Beth Silverman-Yam, Director of Sanctuaries for Families, which is a family violence program in New York City. Successful residencies have already been offered in Portland, Oregon, and Montreal, Canada. Please see her website for more information and video clips at <http://www.gibneydance.org>

WORKSHOP DATES

Friday, November 4th (6:30-9pm)

Saturday, November 5th (10am-5pm)

Sunday, November 6th (11am-1:30pm)

Location: Jowers Center, Dance Studio 175
Texas State University-San Marcos

During the workshops, participants will:

1. Learn how to apply movement arts
2. Participate in experiential dance/movement arts activities, and

Collaborate on how to implement movement arts programs and sustain services to shelters and university organizations

CEU's provided for Social Workers

Registration Limited! To RSVP for the free workshop, please email Karen Knox at kk07@txstate.edu by October 24th.

Please contact us if you have any questions:

Pat Stone, MA, CLMA, Department of Theatre & Dance, ps13@txstate.edu

Karen Knox, LCSW, Ph.D., School of Social Work, kk07@txstate.edu

Grady Hillman, Coordinator, Center for Community Arts, gh24@txstate.edu

University & Community Sponsors: College of Fine Arts and Communication, Department of Theatre & Dance, College of Applied Arts, School of Social Work, Equity & Access, University Arts, Center for Children & Families, Center For Community Arts, and the City of San Marcos Community Services Division.